1- I have noticed that when I start eating those foods, I ended up eating more than I had planned.
2- I have noticed that when I am eating those foods I have continued to eat them, although I am no longer hungry.
3- I have noticed that I eat so much that I feel physically ill, for example, with inflammation, stomach ache, nausea, indigestion.
4 - I worried that I have not been able to avoid consuming those foods, or I have not been able to reduce their consumption.
5- A lot of time I feel slow, heavy or tired from having eaten too much.
6- I have noticed that throughout the day I eat these foods too quickly.
7- I have noticed that I go out to buy these foods when I run out of them, even though I had other options at home.
8- On some occasions when I have consumed these foods too frequently or in excess, I have stopped working, spending time with the family or doing other activities in order to enjoy them.
9- On some occasions when I have consumed these foods too frequently or in excess, I have spent time having negative feelings (guilt, low self-esteem) because I have overeaten instead of working, spend time with the family or doing other activities that I enjoy
10- I have avoided attending social or work events knowing that these certain foods will be available, for fear of overeating.
11- I have avoided attending social or labor events because these certain foods would not be available and I could not consume them.
12- I have felt restless, anxious or agitated when I have stopped consuming those certain foods (excluding caffeinated drinks).
13- I have consumed those foods to avoid feeling anxiety or restlessness caused by not eating them (excluding caffeinated drinks).
14- I have noticed that I have a great desire or urgency to consume those certain foods when I stop eating them.
15- My behavior with respect to food and my way of eating causes me discomfort (anxiety, guilt, depression)
16- Because of food I have significant difficulties to behave appropriately in my different activities (daily routine, work, social, family, health problems).
